The central image is a collage of various artistic works. The most prominent is a classical-style sculpture of a female torso, rendered in a realistic, shaded style. To its left is a stylized, abstract drawing with black and white swirling patterns. Below the torso is a colorful illustration of a bowl filled with various fruits like apples, oranges, and cherries. To the right of the torso are two circular inset images: one showing a globe with a small figure, and another showing architectural sketches of a building. The entire composition is set against a light brown background.
